"Are they after our jobs?" Everyone participating in the labor market helps not just themselves but also the economy by keeping it dynamic. Feeling productive and useful is everyone's right. #(alismaHakkinaSaygi Start Here You are a fresh graduate of law. When war breaks out in your country, you find refuge in a neighboring country. You arrive at a bordering town and there are lots of other people who need the encampment facilities much more than you do. So you weren't allowed into the camp. Will you remain in this country? yes You find out that, in order to seek asylum in another country, you need to apply to United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. You yes. You settle down with a distant relative, who is are in the list but it will be a while before you get a response, and hardly making a living. You are a family of 13, there are no quarantees. Will you wait? making ends meet with social assistance, will you decide to leave not to burden them? NO You need to find a JoB and a RESIDENCE to live. NO yes You want to find a job but you are far away from the city center. Will you move? Since you have no experience in farming The city you reside in offers very or livestock, you find a irregular jobs in limited job prospects. Will you head shipping in construction. You've worked NO to the big city in search of a job? for months, but no pay yet. Will you keep on working? NO yes You are looking for a job in order to yessurvive and contribute to the household economy. Did you find it? You need to have your temporary protection registration here, and find an employer to apply for a work-permit on your behalf. Since you don't speak the language, you begin NO working as an apprentice in a sweatshop. Will you keep working here, in risky conditions? yes-NO Public institutions and NGOs offer free language classes but you still need to earn money for food, shelter and transport. Someone you know, who is involved in an illegal business, says he will help you The legal expertise you had in your country hàyır earn money fast. Will you listen to him? has no value here. Limited opportunities, yes bureaucratic obstacles and discrimination makes it difficult to earn money. Will you You are back in your home country. Your You find a language course with hours that try to go back to your home country? neighborhood was bombed, there is no fit your working schedule and receive a certificate approved by the Ministry of unning water, no electricity and food prices are skyrocketing. Will you stay? NO Education. Now you can lead an independent yes life, and be a productive member of the society you live in. You still feel lucky? yes Are you a lucky person? always not really NO okay, but still, your participation in Your work-permit is renewed the workforce will help you boost your and you apply for the accreditation of your diploma country's economy when you go back

Working in order to earn a living is a human right protected by international law, even in cases where it is not a matter of life and death. Support to Life advocates policies that will support livelihoods, overcome precarity, and improve the lives of everyone residing in Turkey.

Refugees are individuals that had to leave their country not with simply economic concerns, but with hopes of protecting their lives and freedom in circumstances of war and conflict.

As of 2018, Turkey has become a home for nearly 4 million refugees. Support to Life helps them access their basic rights and needs.

Begin supporting life today for a #FutureTogether

